Boom Crash Opera to headline this year's Tuggeranong Festival

Tuggeranong Community Festival President, Michael Lindfield confirmed that legendary mid-80s and 90s Australian rock band, Boom Crash Opera will headline this years festival.

The festival and the Boom Crash Opera live concert is free to the public and keeps alive the organisers long standing commitment of bringing well known Australian artists to perform in front of residents who don't get the opportunity to experience live entertainment.

"Having a high profile, evergreen and well known Australian band is icing on the cake for our Silver Jubilee festival celebrations", Michael Lindfield said.

Boom Crash Opera have been one of Australia's big noise, passionate and high energy bands having a string of hit singles, including "Great Wall", "Hands up in the Air", "Onion Skin", "Get out of the House", "Dancing in the Storm" and "This isn't Love".

Michael Lindfield said, "bringing Boom Crash Opera to Tuggeranong is part of a major shake-up of the festival program that will include more live acts during the family evening and night entertainment sessions."

There will be many other local bands performing before Boom Crash Opera's main stage appearance and after the traditional fireworks spectacular. The bands include:

- Metropolis – a five-piece rock covers band playing the 60's beats to contemporary focusing on loud crunchy guitars and a pumping rhythm;
- Brother Be – a four piece rock/folk band with an acoustic soul;
- Los Chavos – an eight-piece Latin ska, cumbia and reggae band delivering punchy horns, silky saxophone and sexy Latin rhythms; and
- Beth n Ben – a seven-piece folk, reggae, blues and jazz band. Gorgeous vocals, exquisite instrumentation and cruisy groove.

"This year is special and we expect festival attendance records to be broken, Michael Lindfield said.

The festival is on 23 November 2013 in Tuggeranong Town Park.
